From the President

The Spring River Area Chamber of Commerce welcomes you and your family to our beautiful region of North Central Arkansas, conveniently located in the foothills of the Ozark Mountain Region.

Whether you currently live here, are choosing a vacation destination, or are considering relocating to our rural paradise, this Guide is to help you find local resources. As this publication is printed annually, please note that members are added throughout the year so please check our website at www.sracc.org for the most current members or call us at 870-856-3210 and we will research and find what you need.

Sprinkled throughout the guide you will find photos of the area from local photographers that were submitted in our annual photo contest. The winning photo is on the cover! As you can see, our area is amazingly beautiful with a ton of wildlife, spectacular sunsets, and miles and miles of trees and flora.

If you are planning a vacation or are new to the area we encourage you and your family to relax and discover what it is like to leave the hustle and bustle of the big city and enjoy a mixture of fun water sports and recreational activities such as epic fishing adventures, thrilling boating activities, breathtaking hiking trails, championship golfing, get-a-way camping sites and more. Additionally, the region is recognized by numerous talented musicians. In fact, we are home to award winning musical artists such as Ashley McBride, Phillip Sweet of Little Big Town, and American Idol Top 30 contestant Lauren Gray, as well as many other incredibly talented crafters and artists.

If you are considering relocating, you should know US News ranks Arkansas as the #1 Most Affordable State in the country! Our schools are second to none with a 97% graduation rate, plenty of medical facilities and our crime rate is extremely low. Our residents are welcoming and supportive of each other, willing and ready to help others. The area received recognition by the Arkansas Department of Human Services as a 2016 Volunteer Community of the Year recipient.

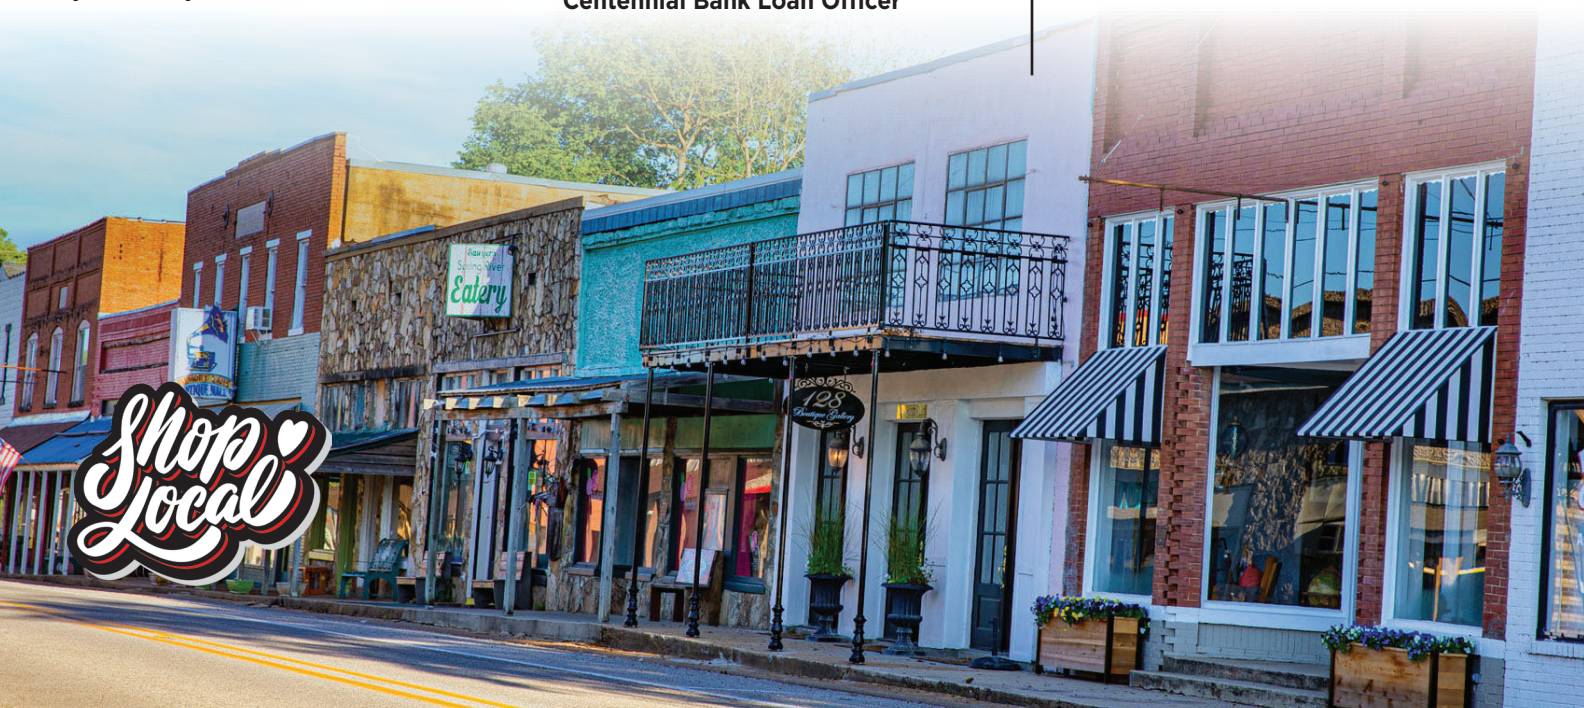

Whether you come to visit, stay for a while, or make our home your home... Welcome!

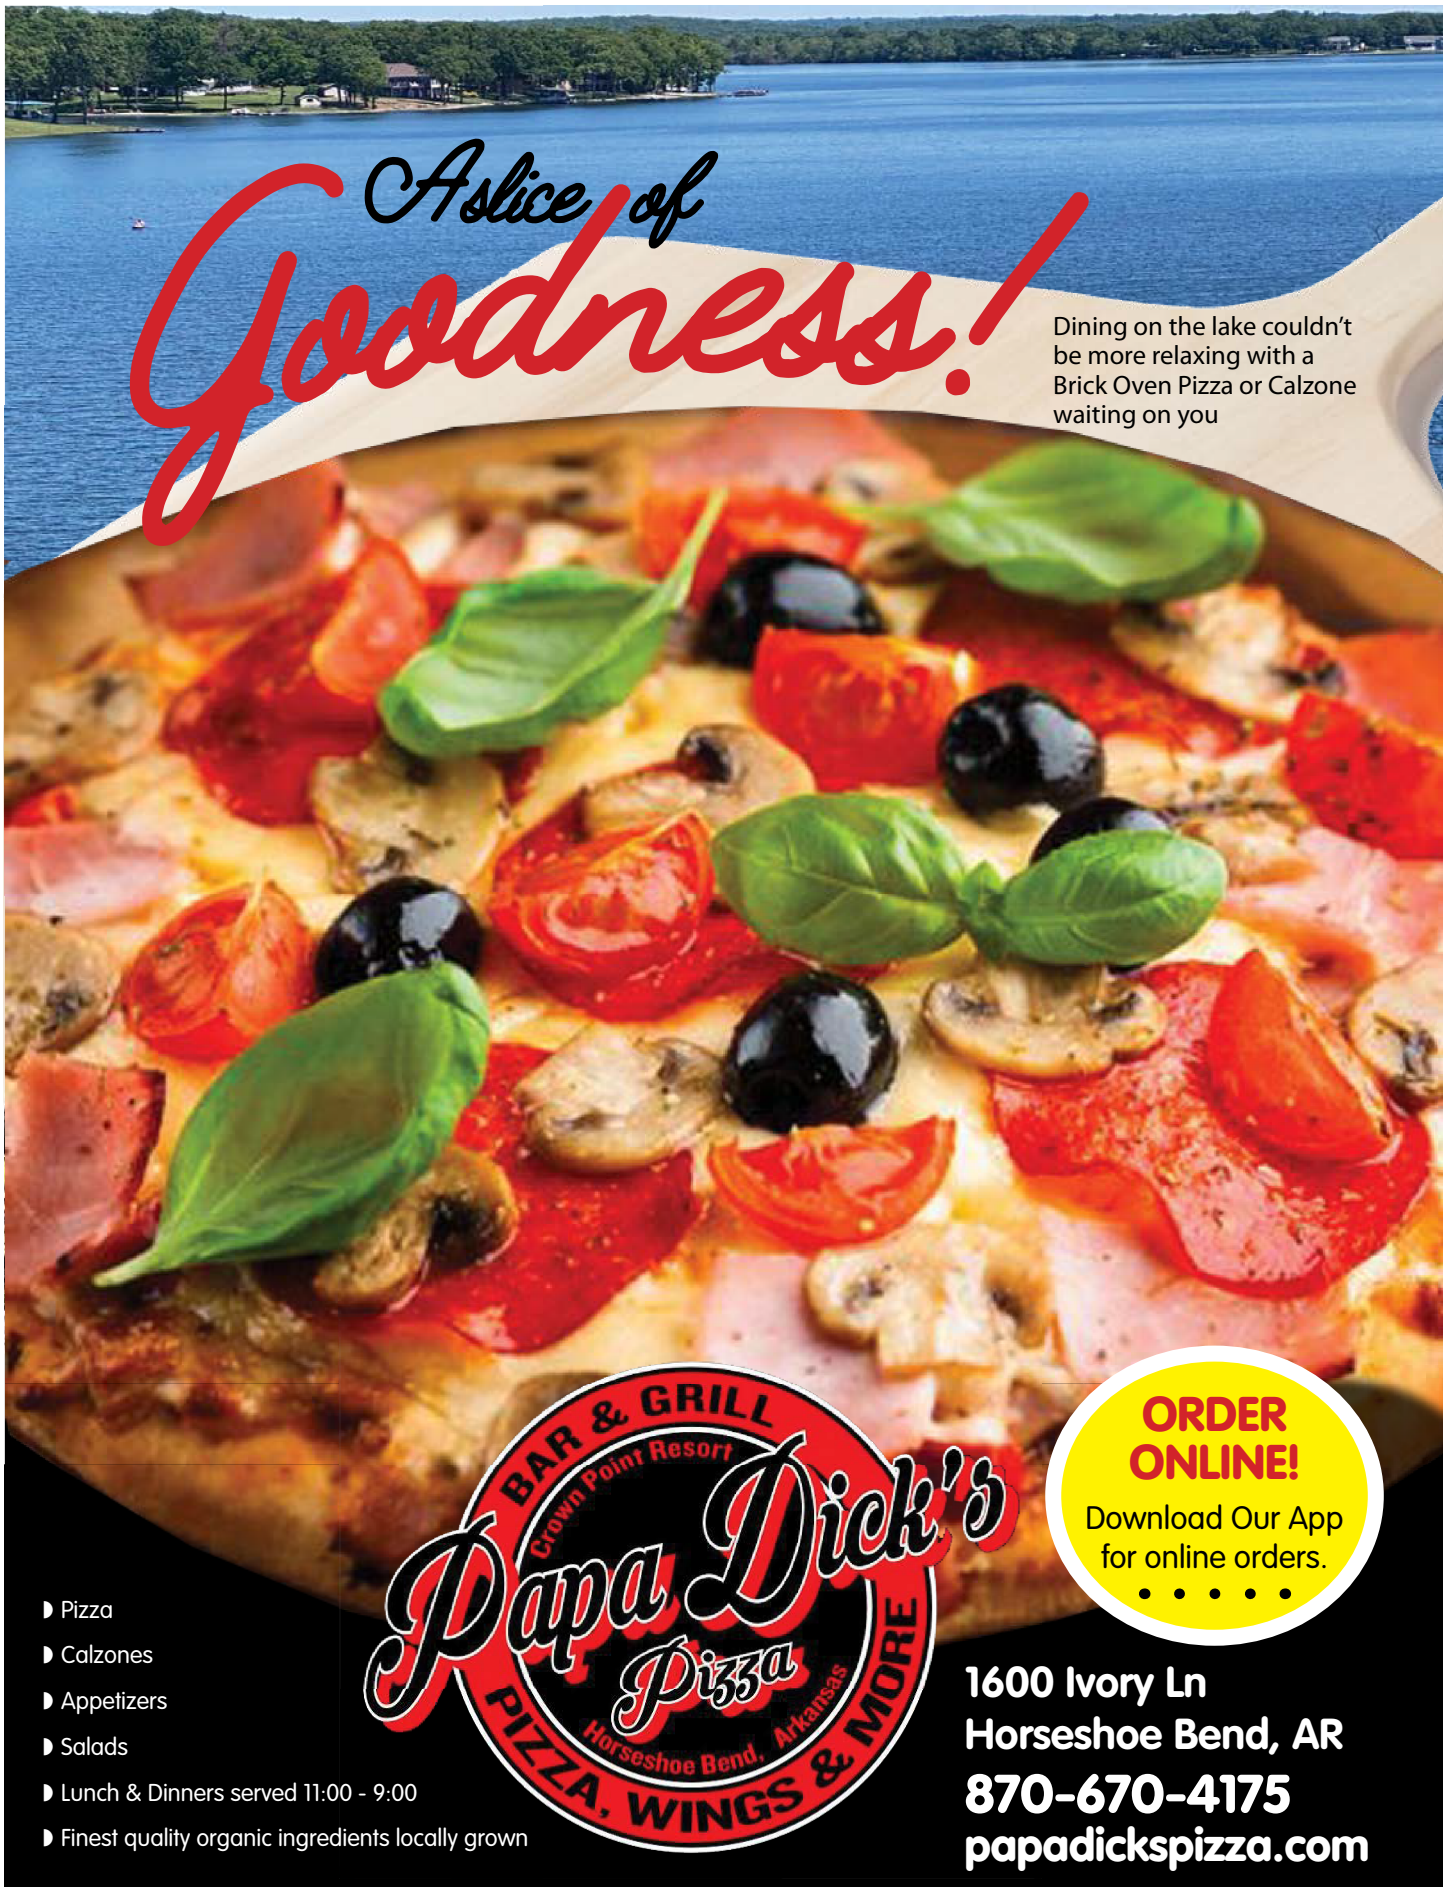

Suzzonne Norris
SRACC President
Centennial Bank Loan Officer

The Spring River Area Chamber of Commerce would like to encourage you to call, email or stop by to help you with your specific questions and needs. Having moved here from Southern California, I would like to encourage retirees to consider relocating to our beautiful, rural area with no traffic, affordable housing, low taxes plus lots of deer, eagles and other wildlife. Snowbirds love the milder winters and Southerners appreciate the four seasons. As Cherokee Village was the first planned retirement community built in the United States in 1965, retirees find it much easier to make new friends with so many leaving their family and friends behind for a new start. Plus, their families will want to come and visit them often to enjoy the many lakes, rivers, camping, hunting, hiking, golfing and more.

Ash Flat

Earliest records indicate that the community of Ash Flat began in the mid to late 1820's. With increases in population and trade, Ash Flat became a town when a new post office was built in 1856. People in and around Ash Flat always placed education near the top on their list of priorities. Ash Flat became the county seat of Sharp County in 1967.

In 2006, the community built a beautiful Veteran's Memorial in Ash Flat that memorializes and recognizes local veterans from all the US wars, including Iraq. Ash Flat is also home to its own extension of Ozarka College, which is headquartered in Melbourne. The Ash Flat campus continues to grow with the recent addition of Carpenter Technical College. The center opened in August 2020 and features automotive technology and diesel mechanics programs.

Ash Flat has two fire stations and full time police force. The city government consists of a mayor and council which meet the third Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m.

The city features a variety of businesses and services from gas and service stations, car dealerships, pharmacies, farm and ranch supplies, to a Walmart Supercenter. Amenities offered for residents include a public library, senior citizens center, city park and a rehabilitation/nursing center.

While you're here, take your pick of our many restaurants and dining options. Whether you're in the mood for Mexican, Pizza, the traditional burger and fries, or the best onion rings around; Ash Flat has got it.

Cherokee Village

Cherokee Village was incorporated in 1998 and is home to 4,973 full-time residents along with some 26,000 property owners residing in every state in the nation and more than 20 countries.

In 1916, the Memphis Council's Boy Scout Camp, Kia Kima, was founded along the banks of the South Fork River in what is now Cherokee Village. As South Fork River leaves Cherokee Village it joins Spring River which flows through Hardy.

John Cooper, Sr., a prominent businessman and lawyer from West Memphis, Ark., cherished time spent vacationing with his family along South Fork River not far from Hardy. It was here that Cooper first dreamed of creating a community where other families could enjoy the streams and natural beauty of the Ozark hills not just during the summer but year-round.

Cooper established Cherokee Village in 1954 to become Arkansas' first planned recreational community, and one of the first of its kind in the nation. During the next decades the Village grew to encompass more than 13,000 acres featuring seven man-made lakes, two 18-hole championship golf courses, three recreational centers, more than 30 parks, fire protection, utilities, a commercial town center, seven churches, 100 clubs and organizations and more than 300 miles of roads.

The city and its local organizations host many events throughout the year, be sure to check its website for up to date information.

Residents are protected by police and fire departments. The city government consists of a mayor and eight-person council which meets the third Thursday of each month at Cherokee Village City Hall at 6:30 p.m. Cherokee Village is the only city in the Spring River Area to provide animal control services.

Hardy

Nestled in the picturesque Ozark Mountains, Hardy, Arkansas, boasts a rich history intertwined with a vibrant present, making it an attractive destination for residents and visitors alike. Founded in 1883, Hardy first emerged as a bustling railroad town, serving as a critical hub for the timber and agricultural industries. The town's strategic location along the Spring River made it a natural trade route, facilitating the transportation of goods and people.

The early days of Hardy were marked by the establishment of several businesses, many of which buildings still stand today, reflecting the town's commitment to preserving its heritage. The historic downtown area, with its charming storefronts and antique shops, invites exploration and embodies the spirit of community and resilience.

As the years progressed, Hardy transformed into a popular destination for tourism, particularly known for its natural beauty and outdoor recreational activities. The Spring River, renowned for its excellent fishing, kayaking, floating, and tubing opportunities, attracts adventure seekers from all over. The surrounding Ozark Mountain area provides breathtaking scenery and hiking trails that showcase the region's diverse geography. Hardy's annual events, such as Hardy Homesteaders Day, celebrates the history of the original town's founding families' homesteading traditions. Hardy fosters a community spirit, drawing in visitors to experience the warmth and hospitality of the area.

Today, Hardy is a thriving community that balances its historical roots with modern conveniences. Local businesses, from cozy cafes to boutique shops, reflect the entrepreneurial spirit of its residents. The Spring River Area Chamber of Commerce plays a pivotal role in supporting local businesses, promoting economic growth, and enhancing the quality of life for its citizens. With initiatives aimed at fostering business development and community engagement, the Chamber serves the city as a vital resource for both new and established businesses.

With 17 historic sites on the National Register of Historic Places, Hardy provides a perfect weekend get-away for you and your family. In addition to Main Street, the city also features Loberg Park, Dr. Thompson Park, and Buford Beach, which are public areas often enjoyed by locals and tourists.

As Hardy looks to the future, it continues to honor its past while eagerly embracing new opportunities. With its blend of historical charm and natural amenities, Hardy, Arkansas, is not just a place on the map; it is a community with a heart, dedicated to growth, sustainability, and the well-being of its residents. Highland

Photos by Angelia Heringer

Highland was incorporated in 1998 and is home to the Highland Rebels School District, the school system for the northern section of Sharp County.

It is the fourth largest city in Sharp County with a population of 1,045 and covers eight square miles. It is named for its elevation and is home of the Highland Rebels. Three lakes are located in Highland; June Lake, Wild Plum Lake and Lake Mirandy. Each of the three lakes offer quiet places to fish and swim. The city park is located near Lake Mirandy.

Whether you are looking for a quiet afternoon at the lake, or want to do a little shopping, Highland is a great place to visit. Enjoy some down time bowling at Frontier Lanes or take in a movie at the Highland Twin Cinema. Highland features two strip malls, antique shops, restaurants, medical clinics, pharmacies, convention center and some industrial area for development.

A diverse group of businesses call Highland home, including banks, auto sales, gas stations, grocery, automotive repair and towing. The city also houses businesses selling everything for the contractor, large or small, including building materials, plumbing supplies, windows, concrete, heating and air, cabinets, carpet and glass.

Join Highland in the beautiful Ozark Foothills of the Spring River area where many attractions and a variety of activities await you. The 13,400 acre Harold E. Alexander Wildlife Management Area borders the city and offers hunting, primitive camping and hiking. Canoe the nearby Spring River and keep a lookout for the great Bald Eagle, often spotted in the area.

Visit for a day or stay for a lifetime!

Sharp County

The Spring River area is in Sharp County, Ark. and is comprised of the cities of Ash Flat, Highland, Hardy and Cherokee Village. Sharp County was created in 1868 out of land carved out of Independence and Lawrence counties. It was named for Ephraim Sharp, a state legislator from Evening Shade, who described the area as having bountiful fruit trees, abundance of timber, plentiful game, and scenic grasslands and rivers.

The date when the earliest white settlers inhabited Sharp County remains disputed, though the earliest families were known to have been living in the Ash Flat area in the middle to late 1820s. Other towns were soon settled, such as Calamine, which was established in the 1820s. The Williford area was settled in 1841. Evening Shade established the first school in 1847. In 1856, zinc was discovered in and around Calamine and was mined briefly until the advent of the Civil War, which brought the operations to a halt.

Some of the early settlers brought slaves with them. Addison H. Nunn, for instance, was the largest slaveholder in the area around future Sidney, which became a town in 1866, with the post office in Nunn's home.

No large-scale Civil War actions occurred in the county. The most notable action was the January 7, 1864, Skirmish at Martin's Creek. Another skirmish occurred the following month at Morgan's Mill, located one mile west of Williford. A service commemorating the skirmish and dedicating a historical marker was held on November 27, 2004, several miles east of Hardy.

A few free blacks inhabited Sharp County after the war, and many former slaves chose to stay with the families whose slaves they had been. Very little work was available to them after they were granted their freedom, however, because most families could not afford to pay them a wage.

At first, the county had two courthouses. The first was built in 1870 in Evening Shade, while the second, completed in 1894, was located in Hardy. It was necessary to have two because the county was divided by two rivers, the Strawberry River at the south end of the county and the Spring River at the north end. During that time, there was much controversy over the location of a single courthouse.

The Sharp County Journal was the county's first newspaper, published in Evening Shade in 1877; it later became the Sharp County Record.

Hardy and Williford were built along the banks of the Spring River. Hardy itself was established as the result of the construction of the Kansas City, Springfield, and Memphis Railroad. The line between Memphis, Tenn., and Kansas City, Mo., was completed on July 4, 1883, and the first train passed through Williford on October 1, 1883. The Saint Louis and San Francisco Railway Company, first organized in 1876, also ran passenger and freight trains through railroad stations in both Hardy and Williford.

Wirth was 60 percent German when it was first settled in 1883, and the German language was spoken by its residents.

In 1890, when the state began to support elementary and secondary education to the amount of 76 cents per year for each enrolled pupil between the ages of six and 21, Sharp County had seventy-nine one-room schoolhouses.

Cave City is located in the southern section of Sharp County and is widely known for its sweet watermelons. Cave City was known as Loyal in 1880, and the name was changed to Cave City because it sat above the Crystal River, which is accessible only through the Crystal River Tourist Camp. This is no longer open to the public but is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Little is known about Crystal River, but it is a unique river because of its inhabitants. In late 2002, scientists learned that the river was home to a rare species of freshwater shrimp. The shrimp was given the scientific name Bacturus speleopolis, the second word being Greek for Cave City. The river is also home to a type of eyeless fish called sucker fish.

Early Twentieth Century

A December 28, 1906, article from the Sharp County Record notes that African Americans were fleeing Evening Shade following the posting of a notice "to the effect that these negroes must leave the county at once..." Little is known about the reason behind this expulsion, but Evening Shade was soon known as a sundown town, a place where African Americans were not allowed after dark. The nearby town of Sidney thus became a refuge for African Americans.

The Great Depression hit Sharp County hard, but its residents were more fortunate than many living in the cities. Sharp County residents raised animals for meat and milk and had large gardens. Often, cars were parked and put up on blocks so that the tires would not rot, because few had money to buy gasoline.

In 1963, a Community Center was built in Ash Flat that included rooms that were used as court areas. In 2003, an annex to the center was completed, which included the offices of the circuit judge, prosecuting attorney, and sheriff, as well as a new courtroom.

The Spring River area was devastated in 1980 by a flood that closed many businesses and destroyed a historical bridge; there are, however, still 43 original businesses on the National Register of Historic Places in Hardy. The San Francisco Railroad Depot was razed in 1980 in Hardy, but freight trains still run through both Hardy and Williford.

At present, the county is composed of several towns: Hardy, Cherokee Village, Ash Flat, Cave City, and Highland, as well as Poughkeepsie, Evening Shade, Sidney, and Williford. Evening Shade is the county's most well-known town because of the hit television show Evening Shade, which aired in the 1990s and starred Burt Reynolds.

Sharp County is served by U.S. Highways 63, 167, and 62/412. A four-lane highway serves the Hardy, Highland, and Ash Flat areas. Because of better access to the northern part of Sharp County, the population is growing and businesses are expanding.

Sharp County has hosted a county fair for over eighty years and Sharp County Fairgrounds is located three miles south of Ash Flat on 20 acres.

Spring River

Mammoth Spring is the headwaters for the Spring River. Flowing at almost ten million gallons of water per hour, the state's largest spring provides great canoeing and fishing on the river throughout the year.

Mammoth Spring State Park is a must see attraction. In addition to viewing one of the largest springs in the country, visitors can hike, picnic or even examine and exhibit train memorabilia. The Mammoth Spring Welcome Center features exhibits, brochures, restrooms and gifts. Here you can reserve a pavilion and learn of the programs and activities taking place in the park. Next door to the park is the Mammoth Spring National Fish Hatchery. The Federal Fish Hatchery and Aquatic Conservation and Education Center may be toured. The aquariums offer a close look at fish and other aquatic species. Visitors can take a self-guided tour of the hatchery and also view one of the nicest public aquariums in the region.

Visit mammothspringchamber.org for more information.

There's no getting around the fact that Spring River is chilly. After all, every hour ten million gallons of 58° water are hard to ignore.

Most Spring River canoe trips take place in the 17 mile stretch between Mammoth Spring State Park and Hardy. This section is recommended for beginning to intermediate canoeists and is very popular for family outings.

The first half of this section begins at the base of Dam 3, a former hydropower structure located south of Mammoth Spring. To get to the launching area, take Arkansas 342, west off US 63, for slightly less than a mile. Floaters of this nine-mile portion can look forward to numerous rapids and even a couple of small waterfalls. The takeout point is Many Islands Camp, a private development located between Hardy and Mammoth Spring, located about 2 1/2 miles west off US 63.

The second half of the Spring River's upper portion begins at Many Islands and concludes about eight miles down stream at Hardy Beach, a public park below the US 60/167 Bridge on the stream's southwest right bank. Like the previous section, this one also features rapids and waterfalls, although they are not as frequent. One especially noteworthy spot is High Falls, a six-foot waterfall which looks considerably taller than that from a canoe.

The Spring River remains floatable for an-other 30 or so miles below Williford. While this section is seldom visited by canoeists because of the long, slow pools, folks strictly interested in a quiet fishing trip might find it ideal. The Spring River's South Fork is able to be traveled via canoe during many months of the year. The first float is 12 miles and the route is from Saddle, on Highway 289, to the bridge at the Cherokee Village Campground. A six-mile trip from this bridge down to Hardy Beach is also possible.
